baby under manufacturing process

proudly designed in Los Angeles, California

introducing

[bump] babies Inc. started the day I found out I was pregnant. It's a feeling that every first-time mom can relate to. There was a transition time in the first trimester when no one could tell if I was pregnant or if I lost my gym membership and was binging on ice cream & chocolate! I wanted to scream "I'm not fat...[bump] on board!" to everyone that stared at my changing body. Little did I know it takes at least 4 to 5 months until the [bump] finally pops and people could actually tell I had a "[bump] in the oven!"

I could not find any hip maternity clothes that catered for that awkward, yet exciting time so I decided to proudly show the whole world my [bump] by wearing it on my expanding belly so there was definitely no confusion. I am excited to share my [bump] designs which are fun, sexy, stylish, comfortable and simply [bump]alicious with other proud expecting mamas & papas.

Thank you for your interest and support!
